

500 POLES ARE MOWED DOWN BY GERMAN GUNS

Attack On Kosel in Silesia Is Repulsed With Heavy Loss to "Insurgents."

By CARL D. GROAT.
United Press Staff Correspondent.
BERLIN, May 12.—Polish insurgents suffered heavy losses in an attempt to take the Upper Silesia city of Kosel from German irregulars and "Italian" soldiers according to dispatches here today.
The Poles were said to have lost 500 in killed and wounded.
The fighting at Kosel was severe and was accompanied by the use of light artillery, with which they did much damage. Offered by members of the Italian detachment the Germans cut great holes in the insurgent ranks with accurate artillery fire. The Poles were less successful.
Despatches here said Polish officials are anxious for an armistice which would leave the insurgents in possession of the territory they have seized.
German mine owners, returning from a trip into Upper Silesia, declared the Poles had attempted to blow them up in the insurgent territory. They were compelled to retire.
GERMANS TO PROTEST
KORFANY "UNJUSTICE"
BERLIN, May 12.—News from Breslau that Adelbert Korfany, the Polish commissioner in Upper Silesia, had reached an agreement with General Leronde commander of the French plebiscite troops to establish a line of demarcation, allowing the Polish insurgents to retain all of the territory they had occupied, was followed by the announcement here today that the German foreign office will make immediate protest to London.
The Polish population of Upper Silesia cities is said to have greeted the news of the agreement between Korfany and General Leronde as a Polish victory.
Despite the "armistice," fighting has continued in several districts of Upper Silesia.

"The matter of prohibition involves a national policy and there are no considerations in connection with prohibition applicable to Hawaii that are not equally applicable to any other subdivision of the national government."

War Cult Raid Results Astound Japanese Press

Crypts Containing Bodies of Organization's Disloyal Are Reported Discovered.

KYOTO, May 12.—(By Associated Press.)—A revelation of the work carried on by the "Omoto-kyo" cult which began when the police raided the headquarters of the organization at Ayabe near here, continue to astound the Japanese press. Newspapers accuse leaders of the cult of aspiring to set up an Omoto-kyo dynasty to which all Japanese would flock with the hope of attaining power.
The police declare there were found crypts in which were placed the bodies of those who were slain for betraying the secrets of the organization.
It is declared "that unspeakable crimes" were committed against women by members of the cult, who are said to have bordered on fanaticism in their zeal.
Cartloads of alleged seditious literature have been seized, including a famous volume bearing the title of "Fire."
It is said that the followers of "Omoto-kyo" cult numbered 300,000. When the police seized the collection of books representing the division of the organization, a band of the faithful clinched their fists in fury, declaring the act of the officers to be sacrilegious.

ALAMEDA MAN IS STRUCK DOWN BY OAKLAND DRIVER

Police Say the Owner of Car Drove Recklessly by Crowd At S. P. Depot.

ALAMEDA, May 12.—George Gabor of 1548 Pacific avenue was seriously injured last night when he was struck by the automobile of Adolph Anderson while waiting with a crowd of people to board the train at Alameda station. Anderson, who lives in the Overland hotel, First and Broadway, Oakland, failed to stop when the train drew into the station, the police say, but dashed past Gabor, who was on the edge of the crowd, was struck and knocked down. At the emergency hospital he was examined by Dr. Arthur Hirschman, city physician, and was sent to his home suffering from bruises, cuts and possible internal injuries.
The automobiles of G. Westphal, 478 Central avenue, and of Mrs. H. B. MacDonald, 622 Taylor street, came together at Sixth and Central avenues last night. Both machines were badly damaged but neither occupant was hurt.

Four Missing "Promoters" Sought As Leaders of Gang of Auto Thieves.

By UNITED PRESS.
LEARNED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.
PORTLAND, Ore., May 12.—The Independent Motor Sales company here is closed by federal officials today and telegraphic orders to arrest its four missing promoters said to be leaders of a gang of international automobile thieves have been flashed to all points on the Pacific coast. The gang is said to have operated in Detroit, Seattle, Los Angeles and other cities. Officials claim that at least $100,000 worth of cars are in transit at the present time. The local motor sales company is said to have been the central clearing house for the stolen machines.
Early collapse of the company here was brought about by the arrest of Nick Sullivan, one of the promoters, charging him with perjury in bankruptcy proceedings. Sullivan was temporarily released here on $1500 bail. He immediately disappeared, as did his partners in the motor sales organization.
Investigation of the concern disclosed its true nature, according to federal officials.
The men wanted, in addition to Sullivan, are James Collins, James Hennessey and John Friedmann.

San Francisco News

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Patrolman William D. Keefe of the Richmond station is wondering if he was the target for an assassin's bullet or chanced to be in the neighborhood of a stray shot shortly before 4 o'clock this morning. He was at Geary street and Jordan avenue when a bullet whizzed over his head. He heard the report of the shot and quickly jumped behind a telegraph pole, drawing his own gun. He waited for developments, but no sound followed and he could see no one. He then pulled a patrol box and a squad of officers reinforced him. They searched buildings in course of construction nearby, but could find nothing suspicious.

The officers today searched his home, 725 France avenue, and found 23 barrels of illicit liquor. He is also suspected of having a part in the smuggling of $100,000 worth of opium into this port recently. The fight put up by Hall when the officers attempted to take him into custody necessitated the interference of Detective Sergeant John Munton before Hall could be subdued.
Both Lloyd and McCarthy received slight cuts from a knife in the hands of the prisoner.

James Ruby of 318 Prospect avenue and Val Dhimann, his chum, of 326 Prospect avenue, reported to the police today that the body of a man had floated close to them as they were fishing late yesterday on a rock near Land's End. ## PRISON STEPS TO BE PAINTED TO PAY DEBT

Arthur Garcia of Progressive Business Men Loses Wager

Tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock a number of members of the Progressive Business Men of Oakland will leave the TRIBUNE building in half a dozen motor cars to escort Arthur Garcia, a member of the Progressive Business Men and a local painter, to San Quentin prison. He will be in custody of a deputy sheriff to be designated by Sheriff Frank Barnett. Garcia is going to San Quentin to pay a debt. At a recent luncheon of the Progressive Business Men he was identified by Warden J. A. Johnston, who had never seen him before. By a prearranged plan the man so identified would be required to paint the front steps of the man making the identification. Garcia was placed under the obligation of painting the front steps of San Quentin prison. Warden Johnston, whose prison steps were but recently painted, objected, but he was given to understand that the obligation must be carried out. Tomorrow, while a moving picture camera records the incident and hundreds look on, Garcia will do the paint job, after which a tour of the prison will be made.

William H. Duncan, local advertising man, who but recently came to Oakland from New York, was the principal speaker at yesterday's luncheon of the Progressive Business Men. The subject upon which he talked was "Truth in Advertising."

Nearly 40 per cent of the marriages which were the subject of petitions in the divorce court in England in 1918 were childless.

What America Did and Failed to Do at Paris

by ROBERT LANSING
FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE

(Robert Lansing gives today his own bitter arraignment of the notorious Shantung award in the treaty of Versailles in which Wilson once more sacrificed a principle "in order to save the League of Nations." This Lansing memorandum, made in Paris at the time of the award, coupled with the Bliss letter, previously disclosed, forms an important bit of world history.)

(Copyright, 1921, by Houghton Mifflin Company, as "The Peace Negotiations: a Personal Narrative." Published by special arrangement with Houghton Mifflin Co.)

CHAPTER XXVII

"China Abandoned to Japanese Rapacity"

I have not discussed certain modifications proposed by the Japanese delegates since, as is clear from General Bliss' letter, they amounted to nothing and were merely a pretense of concession and without substantial value.

The day following the delivery of this letter to the President (April 30) by which he was fully advised of the attitude of General Bliss, Mr. White, and myself in regard to the Japanese claims, the Council of Four reached its final decision of the matter, in which necessarily Mr. Wilson acquiesced. I learned of this decision the same evening. The memorandum which I made the next morning in regard to the matter is as follows:

"China has been abandoned to Japanese rapacity. A democratic territory has been given over to an autocratic government. The President has conceded to Japan all that it not more than she ever hoped to obtain. This is the information contained in a memorandum handed by Ray Stannard Baker under the President's direction to the Chinese delegation last evening, a copy of which reached me through Mr. (of the Chinese delegation).

"WILSON ACTED TO SAVE NATIONS LEAGUE."

"Mr. — also said that Mr. Baker stated that the President desired him to say that the President was very sorry he had not been able to do more for China but that he had been compelled to accede to Japan's demand in order to save the League of Nations." This Lansing memorandum, made in Paris at the time of the award, coupled with the Bliss letter, previously disclosed, forms an important bit of world history.

The memorandum was most depressing. Though I had anticipated something of the sort three days ago (see note of April 28, previously quoted), I had not expected what was in it. The President would stand by his guns and champion China's cause. He has failed given the shell called "League of Nations," but the economic control, the kernel is turned over to Japan.

"However logical may appear the argument that China's political integrity is preserved and will be maintained under the guaranty of the League of Nations, the fact is that Japan will rule over millions of Chinese. Furthermore it is still a matter of conjecture how durable the guaranty of the League will prove to be. It has, of course, never been tried, and Japan's representative on the Council will possibly thwart any international action in regard to China."

WILSON CAT'S PAW IN LANSING'S OPINION.

"Frankly my policy would have been to say to the Japanese, 'If you do not give back to China what Germany stole from her, we don't want you in the League of Nations.' It is possible, too, that he felt the question was in large measure a legal one, and decided that the illegality of transferring the German rights to Japan could be more successfully presented to the Japanese delegates by a lawyer. In any event, in this particular case he adopted a course more in accord with established custom and practice than he did in any other of the many perplexing and difficult problems which he was called upon to solve during the Paris negotiations, excepting of course the subjects of the League of Nations and the principles of international morality. No plea of expediency or of necessity excused such a flagrant denial of undoubted right."

The popular recognition that a great wrong had been done to a nation, weak because of political discord and an insufficient military establishment, in order to win favor with a nation strong because of its military power and national unity, had much to do with increasing the hostility to the Treaty and preventing its acceptance by the Senate of the United States. "The whole business furnishes another example of the results of secret diplomacy, for the arguments which prevailed with the President were those to which he listened when he sat in secret conference with M. Clemenceau and Mr. Lloyd George."

(In his next and final installment Lansing gives his side of "the Bullitt affair" and draws some rather pithy conclusions.)

When I was summoned before the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations on August 6, 1919, I told the Committee that, in my opinion, the Japanese signatures would have been affixed to the Treaty containing the Covenant even though Shantung had not been delivered over to Japan and that the only reason that I had yielded was because it was my duty to follow the decision of the President of the United States.

ABRIDGED BY ARTHUR B. DICKSON, CONSIDERED RESIGNING.

About two weeks later, August 13, the President had a conference at the White House with the same Committee. In answer to questions regarding the Shantung Settlement, Mr. Wilson said concerning my statement that his judgment was different from mine that in his judgment the signatures would not have been affixed if he had not given Shantung to Japan, and that he had been notified that the Japanese delegates had been instructed not to sign the Treaty unless the decision of the German rights in Shantung to Japan was included.

Presumably the opinion which Mr. Wilson held in the summer of 1919 he continues to hold, and for part my views and feelings remain the same now as they were then, with possibly the difference that the indignation and shame that I felt at the time in being in any way a participant in robbing China of her just rights have increased rather than lessened.

So intense was the bitterness among the American commissioners over the Shantung wrong doing perpetrated that, when the decision of the Council of Four was known, some of them considered whether or not they ought to resign, giving notice that they would not sign the Treaty if the articles concerning Shantung appeared. The presence at Versailles of the German plenipotentiaries, the uncertainty of the return of the Italian delegates, then in Rome and the murmurs of dissatisfaction among the delegates of the lesser nations made the international situation precarious.

To have added to the serious conditions and possibly to have precipitated a crisis by openly rebelling against the President was to assume a responsibility which no Commissioner was willing to take. With the greatest reluctance the American Commissioners submitted to the decision of the Council of Four; and when the Chinese delegates refused to sign the Treaty, they refused to

COUNTESS MEETS FRIENDS IN S. F.

Two persons of distinguished achievement, Countess and Countess Alfred Korzybski, are visitors in San Francisco, devoting the first days of their time to resting and meeting old friends. Countess Korzybski was before her marriage to the Polish engineer and author, Myra Skager, whose career as a painter began in San Francisco, where are many friends of her girlhood.

She has come West to paint the portrait of Mrs. Adolph B. Spreckels and incidentally to give an exhibition of her portraits on ivory at Helgesen's. Among her sisters are nearly all the important titled women of England and many of the Continent, including Princess "Pat," the Princess Henry of Bress, the Countess Curzon of Kedleston, the lovely Lady Manners, Lady Haddfield, Mrs. Arthur Wilson of Tranby Court, and a half hundred notable men of affairs.

The Count will lecture while about the bay, probably at one or both of the universities.

Labor Unions Oppose Bills In Congress

CINCINNATI, O., May 12.—A voluminous report prepared by the legislative committee of the American Federation of Labor was distributed today by the federation's executive council.

This report, presented by President Samuel Gompers, contains a complete record of bills introduced in the last and the present Congress that affected the interests of organized labor.

Two new bills also were being considered by the council. They will be pressed in Congress in the interest of labor. One of these bills, already introduced by Senator Johnson, calls for a congressional investigation into conditions in the West Virginia mining communities. The other bill would legalize the right of representatives of labor unions to solicit members, despite any individual contract they may have with their employers.

Bills in the present Congress opposed by labor include Senator Poinsett's anti-strike bill, the Graham sedition bill and Representative Blanton's sedition and anti-picketing bill.

The report approved Senator Borah's bill designed to protect the constitutional rights of the citizens of the United States, which it was stated would also guarantee free speech and free assemblage.

Trestle Glen Buying Discussed by Board

After looking into the advisability of the city's approval of maps of two tracts which real estate men desire placed on the market, the city planning commission yesterday gave its formal discussion to the project of buying Trestle Glen, but decided to take no action until the committee of business men and civic leaders, gathered by Fred E. Reed, shall submit its plan for raising the money.

Reed and the business men have been looking into the possibilities of the purchase of Trestle Glen through annual payments by the city, the banks advancing the funds for the purchase and the city paying the banks annually.

'CLEAN-UP' TO BE MOTHERS' SLOGAN

When the twentieth annual convention of the California Congress of Mothers opens a four-day session in Oakland on May 24, it will be requested to take cognizance of the work of the Woman's Vigilant Committee, according to instructions of that body meeting in San Francisco yesterday.

District Attorney Brady of San Francisco will be visited by a special committee of the Vigilantes, presenting a request for a "clean-up" of various poolrooms. The visit will be a direct answer to a communication received from Brady, taking them to task for giving publicity to a letter addressed to him asking investigation of dismissals of offenders in the city's poolrooms.

Supervisors of San Francisco county are being addressed by the Vigilant Committee asking when an investigation of the valuation of the United Railroads would begin.

Various clubs have contributed $467.35 to a reserve fund.

Dr. Mariana Bertola presided at yesterday's meeting.

Woman, Boy May Die After Auto, Car Hit

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Injured seriously when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a United Railroads car at Fourth and Harrison streets last night, Mrs. Mario Signoracci, 32 years old, of 1032 Palco street, and her 7-year-old son, William, are in a hospital not expected to live, while Guglielmo Gervasio, 40, 1933 Stockton street, is suffering from fractured ribs and minor injuries.

Mrs. Signoracci's husband, who was driving the automobile, and a 3-year-old child passenger, escaped uninjured.

The accident occurred when Signoracci, in an attempt to avoid another automobile, turned his machine in front of the street car before either the automobile or the trolley could be stopped.

The woman received a fractured skull and the boy's skull is believed to have been crushed. Little hope was held at the hospital today for their recovery.

Wife Eloped With Another Says Husband

Chester A. Thaxter of Berkeley, has filed suit for divorce in the Superior Court against his wife, Florence V. Thaxter, charging that last November she deserted him and went away with Everett Smith, taking with her all his money and small child. He further alleges that she entertained other men in their home during his absence. The couple were married in Berkeley on October 9, 1911.

SHORT SKIRTS APPROVED. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 12.—Short skirts for women were approved here by the Alta Via club, a women's organization. "Short skirts," the club held, "are much better looking than long skirts; short skirts are more sanitary, economical and convenient."

GOVERNOR CONFIRMED. WASHINGTON, May 12.—E. M. Reilly, of Kansas City, Mo., was confirmed by the Senate to be Governor of Porto Rico.

AIR MAP OF CITY 11 BY 15 FEET IS MADE BY AVIATOR

Real Estate Men Told Work Represents Over 200 Views Taken From Sky.

Development of aircraft and aircraft photography was exemplified yesterday at the weekly meeting of the Oakland Real Estate Board when Major Reed Chambers of the Durant Aircraft Corporation and former war flyer, exhibited an aerial photographic map of Oakland. The map is fifteen by eleven feet in size.

Because of the lack of development in the art of aerial photography, according to Major Chambers, work of the air scouts in the past, no matter how carefully done, was more or less haphazard and represented only a birdseye view of the enemy territory.

Major Chambers has been engaged in making his map since the first of January and has been making flights almost daily since that time.

Of the making of the map Chambers said: "The map on exhibition here was pieced out of 1400 prints and represents about 200 actual prints. The prints must be identical in size and tone. With an expert army photographer I made flights each day at high noon, only taking one or two pictures at each

Juanita Miller Will Appear For Salvation Army Drive

The first public appearance of Juanita Miller, daughter of Joaquin Miller, poet, since her recent marriage to her "Hill" love, Juan Miller, will come tomorrow afternoon at the T. and D. theater when her appearance will mark a benefit for the Salvation Army drive for funds to complete its maternity home.

Juanita's appearance will include several of her dances, the recitation of some of her father's and her own verse and the singing of several songs of her own composition. Her husband will also make an appearance with her. Arrangements for her appearance were made by William E. Harvent, chairman of one of the subcommittees handling the Salvation Army drive.

Juanita Miller will appear at 3 p. m. and the entire proceeds of the matinee are to be turned over to the Salvation Army drive. The regular T. and D. program this week will also be shown as usual.

From the headquarters of the Salvation Army campaign reports come that while money is coming in the committee at a steady rate, the quota of $30,000 is far from having been reached and final appeals to the public to contribute in order that the money necessary to complete the new rescue and maternity home can be raised are being issued today.

Even the naming of the streets and grades is achieved in the modern aerial map.

Major Chambers said that he first mapped out the city by the United States geodetic survey in triangular points and then made each picture in sequence.

Heartily indorsement of the campaign to raise $30,000 to complete the new Rescue and Maternity home at East Twenty-eighth street and Garden avenue, has been given by all of the fraternal, commercial and patriotic organizations who contributed generously at their meetings during the week. The Advertising club, the Kiwanis club, Lions' club and Rotary club all voted to support the cause.

William Harvent, chairman of the subcommittee, is planning a benefit night. Ammunition week ends next Monday at which time the Salvation Army expects to have the required $30,000.

The course will be given by Miss Rebecca N. ## WIFE OF ACCUSED LIEUTENANT SAYS HE WAS 'VAMPED'

Announces She Will Stand by Naval Officer, Who Must Face Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—A woman's ability to swallow her personal pride and her jealousy and to overlook the vagaries, actual or alleged, of the man she loves, furnished today the most interesting angle of a love triangle in which the principals are Lieutenant Frederick San Soucie, Stunt Petty Officer of 1590 California street, his alleged affinity, and Mrs. San Soucie, the officer's wife.

Upon orders from Washington, husband were recently lined against San Soucie following allegations that he had taken a trip to the Philippines in an official capacity, accompanied by a woman not his wife. This woman, whom he is said to have introduced as Mrs. San Soucie, is alleged to have occupied the same apartment with him in Clay street while they were in San Francisco.

San Soucie's wife, who has been waiting at San Diego until her husband secured a permanent appointment, came up from San Diego when she learned of the charges against her husband. She met most of the day in Vallejo, following which she came to San Francisco.

LIEUTENANT IS HELD

The charges against San Soucie accuse him of "conduct tending to corrupt good morals." It is understood that the defendant will put forth every effort toward overcoming whatever loss of prestige may result from the charges against him.

A court-martial hearing will be held at Mare Island next Wednesday. Pending that action, the defendant is being held on board a receiving ship at Mare Island.

Rumors that she would institute divorce proceedings were denied by Mrs. San Soucie, who declared that she will stand by her husband. She said that when the present difficulties were over there would be a home waiting for her husband.

"VAMPED," WIFE BELIEVES.

Just before leaving here for San Diego, Mrs. San Soucie stated that the idea of divorce never entered her mind for a moment. She said she felt that her husband needed her now and she would "stand by him."

That she married him had been happy and that this was the first time that anything had come between them, was avowed by Mrs. San Soucie.

She said further that she had not seen Miss Abter and did not wish to see her, but that she believed the affair was a case of vamping. She had a confidential talk with her husband, according to her statement, and he told her everything. She said she believed him and felt confident that their difficulties would come out all right.

"Everyone makes mistakes," she observed, "and I don't think he is altogether to blame."

Miss Abter, it is said, is now home in the Bronx Apartments, 1590 California street.

Wife Says Husband Kicked Furniture

Mrs. Freda H. Floberg asks that a restraining order be issued prohibiting her husband, Earl Floberg, from selling their rooming house at 844 Eighth street, in her suit for divorce just filed.

In her affidavit she alleges that her husband was morose and sullen, that he kicked the furniture around the house and that he frequently said:

"Why should I work when I have a wife?"

Mrs. Floberg asks that her maiden name of Scriben be restored to her.

Money Hidden in Book and Pillow Is Missing

Antone Corea and Manuel Gomez did not believe that a bank was a safe place to deposit their savings. Corea hid his money between the leaves of a magazine and his room mate put his in between his pillow and pillow case. They returned home, 153 Third street, from their day's work last night and both went to see if their money was safe. But it was not there. Corea lost $145 and Gomez $25. They reported the case to police and Inspector Tom Wood was detailed on the case. He arrested Gerardo Gonzales 1755 Cedar street, who is being held for investigation.

CHIMES
"Paying the Piper," a George Fitzmaurice production with Dorothy Dickson, Alma Tell, George Fawcett and Rod La Roque, will be the feature offering at the Chimes theater today. It is a romance of New York's double life. On one side, the glare and the glitter of the painted Polly dancing jazz. The other, the challenge and inspiration, and simple human hearts and love. The story deals with the idyllic life of the great St. Metropolis.

NEW FRANKLIN
Harold Lloyd, Mae Murray and the Vandenberg-Parmount-Jungle picture pictures on Saturday will start the second week at the New Franklin Theater.

Mae Murray's "Gilded Lily" is the story of a glittering salamander of New York's night life who toyed with men's affections but who had a real woman's heart.

BROADWAY

KINEMA
Florence Vidor and Lewis Stone, in "Beau Reveil," on Friday night, will complete a week's run at the Kinema Theater, and will be followed on Saturday by the new Thomas Meigan picture, "The Day Road."

"Beau Reveil" tells of a father who sets out to hit a match between his son and a cabaret dancer, and who, instead, falls in love with the woman.

Florence Vidor, who was featured in the last issue special, "Lying Lips," plays the difficult emotional part of the cabaret girl.

On the same bill is the new Mack Sennett comedy, "Pickin' Fanny," with Charles Murray and "A Bit of Jazz," an instrumental novelty.

Lee Willard, Al Watson, Marna Sisson, Ruth Saville and all of the Fulton Players will be in the cast.

LOEW'S STATE
Frank Mayo is the principal attraction at Loew's State Theater until Sunday in his newest picture drama, "The Magnificent Brute." Headlining the varieties are Regal and Mook in "The Book Shop," Mills and Moulton in "A Timely Appointment," Gleasons and Houlihan offer singing, musical and dancing scenes. Buried Howard and Dave Hoffman sing and chat, Canaris and Cleo, with Parisian novelties, complete the bill.

Auditorium
Sunday Al Burton and Mary Shea in "The Revue of 1921" will be headlined. The screen feature is the Goldwyn production "A Voice in the Dark."

Auditorium
Al Johnson in "Sinbad" will be seen at the Auditorium Theater on Wednesday and Thursday, May 18 and 19. "Sinbad" has a picture story which is unfolded in twenty sumptuous scenes by nearly 150 actors, singers and dancers, governed in satirical and beautiful by the music of the orchestra. The music is bright and pretty throughout and full of the sensuous color befitting its Oriental settings.

There is only one Al Johnson, according to President Harding, and he is chock full of ginger after a delightful rest at Palm Beach and is looking forward with eager anticipation to meeting his host of admirers here again.

TARIFF CHANGES SENT CONFEREES

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The emergency tariff bill was in the hands of house and senate conferees today. It passed the senate late yesterday without amendment except those made by the senate finance committee.

The vote was 68 to 23. As passed by the senate the bill is to be effective for six months, when it is hoped that the permanent tariff law, now being framed by the house ways and means committee, will have been enacted. It provides duties on wheat, corn, beans, peanuts, potatoes, rice, cattle, sheep, meats, long staple cotton and cotton manufactures, wool and wool manufacturers, sugar, milk, wrapper and filler tobacco and other farm products.

In addition the bill carries an anti-dumping section designed to check the influx of cheaply manufactured foreign goods. Provision is made for the inspection of foreign exporters' books to determine costs where necessary for the assessment of duties. The war time control of importations of dyestuffs is continued and the war trade board section of the state department is transferred to the treasury.

"A right-about-face in the Shoe Business"

How much is a shoe dollar worth

SOME of the talk that is given free rein around the table of a family dinner party is very refreshing these days. People say frankly that they must cut down expenses—and act as if they were going to get some fun out of it into the bargain.

It's no longer a social error to practice economy right out in public.

The man, the woman, with the fifteen to eighteen dollar shoe ideas finds few sympathizers.

With the public in this frame of mind, the announcement of Regal Spring Shoes at $7.50, $8.50, $9.50, is bringing thousands of new customers into the Regal Stores.

Genuine leathers, genuine workmanship, choice of 65 authoritative custom lasts—at prices that make your every shoe dollar worth $1.50 or more, in comparison with a few short months ago.

The ability of Regal to serve you in this way is the four-fold result of the Regal policy of go-ahead.

Sound merchandising—Regal opened the season free from carried over stocks.

Alert manufacturing—the Regal command of genuine Calfskin, genuine Kidskin, genuine Cordovan—and of workmen noted for their skill even in a community of skilled shoe-makers.

Factory-owned stores—57 of them, supplied direct from the great Regal Factories.

And finally, the intimate Regal understanding of the substantial citizen's desire for money's worth.

Regal Shoes for Spring are $7.50, $8.50 and $9.50

Artist Traps Thief*Who Later Escapes

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—Edward S. Williams, scenic artist at the Alcazar theater, living at 120 Webster street, clashed with a burglar who, however, succeeded in escaping late last night. Williams was out automobile riding and returning late at night in his hallways. On entering a man ran from the bedroom, taking refuge in the kitchen. Williams followed and the two played hide and seek through the rooms, the culprit finally taking refuge in a closet. Williams thought he had him cornered and stepped into another room. The burglar ran for an open window and escaped by dropping to the ground. Nothing had been taken.

Tribune Information Helps Three Break Into Society

Dress suits, the garb of civilization and the shackles of civilization, were responsible for three personal visits to the TRIBUNE'S Information Bureau today.

A trio of masculine seekers after general information filed in. The first was tall and thin, the second short and round, the third of that sort of non-committal half-and-half build known as medium sized.

The tall man, who was spokesman, stooped over and said, in a confidential tone:

"My two friends and I have come to a desperate pass. We want some information and we want it quick. We've broken into society to the extent of getting invited to a swell formal dance. Nothing but bottled shirts and conventional clothes will do. The affair comes off tonight. Where can we rent three fancy rigs?"

The information was forthcoming and the three social aspirants went away satisfied. They were only three of a large number of TRIBUNE readers who have sought and obtained desired knowledge at the TRI-BUNE'S Information Bureau since the bureau was opened on Monday of this week.

"J. G." of East Oakland writes the bureau the following letter:

"Kindly answer the following two queries in the Oakland TRIBUNE at the best convenient time.

"First: Through what towns or cities do you pass taking the best auto route to Yosemite Valley?"

"Second: What do the words 'B'nai Brith' in the Jewish Lodge of that name signify?"

The answers to the above questions are as follows:

First: There are three different routes you can take to Yosemite. (1) Oakland, Oakland, Keystone, Crocker-Hughes. (2) Via Modesto and Coulterville. (3) Via Alameda, Turlock, Merced, Merman Bar and Wawona.

Second: B'nai Brith means 'Sons of the Covenant'.

She's to Bid Mere Man to This Session

By EDNA B. KINARD.
Man, for the first time in the story of a woman's convention in California, is to be recognized this month.

When the California Federation of Women's Clubs assembles in the twentieth annual conference in Yosemite on Tuesday, May 24, the men folk are to have a distinct and honored place. Clubwomen have voted against claiming all the glories of the wonderful national park to themselves. They are inviting their husbands and fathers and brothers to motor them in from every point north and south where organizations flourish.

Then, having lured them hither, they are arranging to keep them. Convention programs are to occupy only morning and evening sessions. Entire afternoons of the four-day meetings are to be given over to exploring the trails and hidden places of beauty. The men folk will be the welcome companions of the delegates and visitors on these pleasure jaunts. But for the hours when they are occupied with serious matters, they have secured the services of experienced guides to look after the masculine guests.

There is, too, a plot being prepared against the unsuspecting male. He is to be recruited to the ranks of the pageant which will occupy all of the Friday session. It is then the pictorial history of California from its mythical birth to the symbolic meaning of its present day life to be unfolded in tableaux, dance, drama and song. No delegate or member of delegate's family is to escape a part in the magnificent cast which Los Angeles moving picture concerns are bidding against each other to film. Eastern and European journals are also clamoring for a series of pictures of the production. While it is being whispered that the men will be found largely among the "supes," feminine determination decrees that they will be there.

More than 1000 reservations have been made at Camp Curry, the convention headquarters.

Officers, committee chairmen and delegates to the Women's Legislative Council of California will meet at the St. Francis on Saturday in executive session. Already plans are in the making for a framing of a new community property bill which will meet the general approval of men and women, husband and wives, alike.

It is announced that during the past two years more than 50 organizations of women have affiliated themselves with the council.

Mrs. A. J. Lawler, state president, whose home has been in Santa Ana, is establishing her permanent residence in Los Angeles.

A musicale will claim the interest of Oakland Center, California Civic League, tomorrow afternoon. Rockridge Woman's club will present the program under the direction of Mrs. W. P. L'Hommedieu. This North Oakland organization has created within its own ranks a

Free Excursion and Opening Sale

Next Sunday

May 15th

The Alameda City Land Company, owners of one of the largest bodies of land in the City of Alameda, announces the opening sale on next Sunday, May 15th, of a portion of its holdings in acre and half-acre tracts.

This wonderfully located property lies on Bay Farm Island entirely within the limits of the City of Alameda.

Bay Farm Island has long been famous for its truck gardens.

Three and four crops of vegetables of the finest quality are often raised in one year.

Here, you can buy an acre right in the city on easy terms for the price of a city lot. One acre of ground is equal in area to seventeen 25 x 100 foot lots.

Do not be content with a city lot when you can buy a great big acre within easy commuting distance of your work.

FREE: Write for our profusely illustrated folder. This folder contains a score of photographs including an actual aeroplane picture of Bay Farm Island and Alameda. It also contains a reproduction of official city map of Alameda, showing Naval Base site. Alameda has been selected as the site for the mammoth U. S. Naval Base. A Bill is now pending before Congress to provide funds for starting work on this great project. Think what this will mean to Alameda Acres!

Get in ahead of the Naval Base. Buy your Alameda Acre now. From a speculative standpoint, due to its unique location Alameda Acres stands in a class alone. A number of great projects are being contemplated in the East Bay Cities, the completion of any one of which will greatly enhance the value of Alameda Acres.

It is freely predicted that the City of Alameda will soon experience a real estate boom.

Statistics prove that the East Bay Cities are growing at a much more rapid pace than any other district around San Francisco Bay. This is true both as to industrial growth and population.

Location makes values. Bay Farm island lies directly in the path of the greatest industrial development on the east shore of San Francisco Bay.

Buy acreage in the path of a rapidly growing community—you cannot make a mistake.

GERMANY WILL PAY.

Once again Germany has agreed to comply absolutely with the demands of her adversaries in the great war. She has accepted the terms submitted by the governments of France, Great Britain, Belgium and Italy, contained in the ultimatum of the Supreme Allied War Council of May 4.

Germany's action has been thoroughly considered and meditated. A new cabinet was constituted during the first few days of this week and the proposal of the government was submitted to the Reichstag and there approved by the parliamentary representatives of the German people. The German response to the Allied ultimatum has now been delivered within the last few hours of grace remaining before the time set to begin military occupation of the Ruhr district. The Allies will now postpone invasion for awhile. If no further trickery is attempted by the Berlin government, they will in time suspend their plans of invasion.

By its acceptance of the Allied ultimatum Germany undertakes the payment of a heavy bill for reparation of war damages. Reduced to terms of American money, at normal rates of exchange, it amounts to a base sum of approximately $34,000,000,000, which is to bear interest until the final installment is paid at the rate of 5 per cent annually.

The conditions of payment are specifically described. By the first of June $235,000,000 must be paid. This is a part of the five billion gold marks which Germany had previously agreed to pay by May 1. Annual payments of $300,000,000 are to be made, and $250,000,000 of this year's installment must be paid within three months. Germany must issue three series of bonds. The first is for $3,000,000,000, and must be delivered to the Allies by June 1; the second is for $9,500,000,000, and the third is for the remainder of the bill, $21,250,000,000, and is to be delivered as the reparations commission decides it can be paid. German exports are to be taxed with a 25 per cent ad valorem duty, which is expected to yield about $500,000,000 annually and which is to constitute a sum for the payment of interests on the reparations debt.

In addition to the financial terms, Germany undertakes to carry out, without reserve or condition, the treaty terms covering military, naval and aerial disarmament, and to proceed without reserve or condition, with the trial of war criminals.

There is now a better prospect than ever before that Germany will sincerely try to meet these conditions. Berlin played its last card when it tried to provoke Washington interference and to obtain the services of the United States as a mediator. It is perfectly plain that the French and Belgian armies stand ready to enforce the treaty, or to impose the penalties provided for non-fulfillment, with military action if this becomes necessary. There is no way out. The last hole has been plugged behind German evasion.

Germany has reached this last stand in her post-armistice dealings with her adversaries with additional dishonor and disgrace. She tried to scrap the Versailles treaty. She has tried to protect her war criminals. She has broken her word and her faith. She yields only to superior force.

Thus she has made her future path more tortuous and difficult. Work and honest conduct is a greater need than ever, and must be put forth in an atmosphere of distrust and suspicion. But now that the final decision has been made, the Allied governments and the United States will be required to give less attention to war questions and will have more time to devote to vital matters of domestic concern.

UNIVERSITY GRADUATES.

University of California yesterday conferred graduation degrees upon not only the largest class ever turned out from its own halls, but the largest class ever graduated by any American university. Sixteen hundred and fifty-one young men and women, most of them Californians, have left the Berkeley institution for their homes after a collegiate experience that should have equipped them for efficient and worthy citizenship.

These young citizens, ready for active participation in the life of their State and country, are to be congratulated on the opportunity they have enjoyed. The university affords facilities for the better training of the mind and the better development of the body. It holds a fund of moral and spiritual riches which is for the benefit of all its students who strive for their share in the right way. Some few may have failed to profit from the advantages placed at their disposal, but not many.

We prefer to think that California and the world is considerably richer in worthwhile human material from the contribution of these graduates of the university. Their faith in themselves perhaps runs high, as it should, but it should not be higher than the faith their fellow citizens place in them. Their future is the period of justification. Whatever may happen as to individuals, in the mass they will make good.

BUDGET LEGISLATION.

Both Houses of Congress have passed a budget bill. The Senate adopted the plan of Senator McCormick of Illinois to have the budget bureau attached to the Treasury Department. The House has adopted Representative Good's bill placing the budget bureau directly under the office of the President. There are other differences between the two bills, but this is the major one and the only one that seems to offer a serious obstacle to an early conference agreement.

With the sentiment so strong throughout the country and in Congress for a reform in the system of voting appropriations and accounting for expenditures, it is not likely that there will be much delay to an agreement by the conference committee. Yet the difference in principle of the two measures is rather important and there is an honest divergence of opinion as to which plan should be adopted.

The best of the argument seems to lie with those who insist upon the idea of placing the budget board under the direct control of the President. The budget board's duty will be to pass on the estimates of all the departments, including the treasury department. It will be expected to deal fairly with all departmental estimates. Therefore it ought to be free of the influence of any one department.

Should the budget bureau be under the control of the treasury there naturally will arise the suspicion that the budget supervisor will be loathe to cut the estimates of his chief. It will be feared that he cannot go as far as he would like in trimming the expenses of the Treasury Department. And having been lenient with one department he will be subject to pressure from other departments in the interest of leniency. Thus there would arise the danger of the budget bureau being used as a moral and technical support of departmental estimates which Congress would be under the obligation to consider.

This is the contention of those who favor the Good idea. On the other hand the advocates of the McCormick bill are disinclined to see a budget board created that would be above Cabinet control. They fear that such a board would be a sort of super-cabinet office, from which would emanate opinions and judgments that would receive more weight than a cabinet officer's demand. This is an expression of the spirit of jealousy of the departments, their opposition to seeing any change inaugurated that would deprive them of powers they now possess.

Those who favor the budget system from considerations of principle totally dissociated from politics, are for the Good bill. They believe it would be more effectual, would more nearly approximate the objective aimed at—economy, efficiency and responsibility in the government. But if the Good plan cannot be had, the McCormick plan will be a big improvement over present conditions, and perhaps the results feared would not actually follow, or if they did follow it would be in a much milder form than anticipated.

PASSENGERS FOR AMERICAN SHIPS.

Ambassador Davis, returning from London, and Ambassador Harvey, going to London, took passage on British ships. The trips, it might be regarded as an act of courtesy to England, but it has aroused hostile comment in Washington. Senator Kenyon on Tuesday said that he knew American ships were carrying few passengers, while British ships were "crowded to the rails." Senator Jones agreed that it might even be necessary by law to require Americans to travel on our own vessels. When Senator King suggested that foreign ships were more convivial, Kenyon replied that ours are "wet enough to satisfy the most fastidious wet in Utah." The trouble, these Senators apparently believe, is in a certain snobbishness which leads Americans to prefer an air service.

American ships are by no means so empty, nor British, French, and Scandinavian ships so full, as Senator Kenyon's words imply. The United States Mail ship Susquehanna on April 6 carried 556 passengers to Europe. The Panhandle State, with room for about seventy-five first-class passengers, left on the 19th for London with fifty-five. The Princess Matoka started on its first voyage to Italy on the 23d with 231, though a ship must make several voyages before it builds up a full passenger list. Another American line in April sent over a medium-sized vessel with about 200 passengers. A third sent a liner to Europe with not far from 150. Foreign companies have felt the depression on certain routes severely. It was not under the American flag that last month a good-sized liner started for Europe with barely fifty passengers.

If American ships offer the speed, comfort, and safety of foreign lines at equal rates they ought in time to enjoy a distinct advantage. Some few Americans like the feeling of getting on foreign soil as soon as they embark, but undoubtedly there are more who, for patriotic and social reasons would prefer to travel on our own flag. It is necessary only to make the reputation of young American lines as well understood as the reputation of older European competitors. Passenger ships may have to face a protracted period of hard times, especially if immigration legislation cuts off most of the expected steerage traffic. But legislation to force Americans to use American vessels will only have more time to devote to vital matters of domestic concern.

NOTES and COMMENT

It would not seem to be a violent conclusion that American ships should pass through the American built Panama canal with greater advantage as to tolls than the ships of foreign countries. But there seems to be a considerable argument about it. It was started in the administration of former President Wilson and is now resumed. It is, of course, remembered that the former administration decided that this country should enjoy no advantage.

The communications that get into newspapers with cryptic or humorous signatures, and which contain plain or veiled criticisms, illustrate the human tendency to shout from ambush. The person who has something real to say is much more impressive when he frankly signs his name than when he keeps behind a nom de plume.

Sportsmen believe that Carpenter cannot win because his experience in the trenches is thought to have weakened him. "It is certain," says the San Bernardino Sun, which seems to recall how the American patriotically remained on this side during the war to work in a shipyard, "that Dempsey does not suffer from the same cause."

The British miners' strike has flamed up again, the cause being the importation of coal while peace negotiations were under way. Transport workers refuse to unload it. The situation there seems to be touchy, as it does everywhere. Orderly people keep on hoping the world will straighten out soon, and resume its old-time sweep.

Wilson's presidential order as to civil service for postmasters has been modified by President Harding. The order was expected to be reinforced by Congressional action, when all who were put in during the former regime would remain. But somehow connections were missed, and here they are, having to endure a modification of that which was about the spoils belonging to the victors.

The recent gigantic robberies of mails have resulted in the invention of containers to be placed in mail cars that are burglar proof, or at least burglar baffling. The readiness with which the extended series of thefts were committed suggests that mails in transit are an easy mark for bandits and burglars.

When we see what the Salvation Army has done and is doing, and the readiness with which the public responds to its appeals for funds with which to carry on philanthropic projects, we are sure to realize the difference in its status from that earlier time when its devotees were more or less the subjects of derision by the great unthinking mass. There has never been another such example of an organization justifying itself.

Germany has a new cabinet, and it has accepted the ultimatum. All that the German nation will have to do for the next fifty years is to keep up the reparations payments. It may have been a merry round for the Germans while it lasted, but there is certainly a long and severe reckoning ahead.

There was an unaccountable run on the lemon market at Pittsburg. Lemons did not seem to be handed out in greater quantity than in normal times, in accordance with the well-known joke, and there was a considerable mystery about it. Finally it was discovered that certain shipments from Sicily were stuffed with opium, and the run was the result of addicts becoming wise to the fact.

It is announced today that Soviet Russia has not been recognized by England, it having been announced yesterday that it had. No one was offered that yesterday's announcement was wrong, but it is pretty certain that few were betting that it was right. England would be the last country to lend color to such chaos as has resulted from the Soviet thing.

They have just encountered natural gas in South America. The revolutionary fulminations, it would seem from this, have all been managed on the artificial variety, which really ought to go without saying.

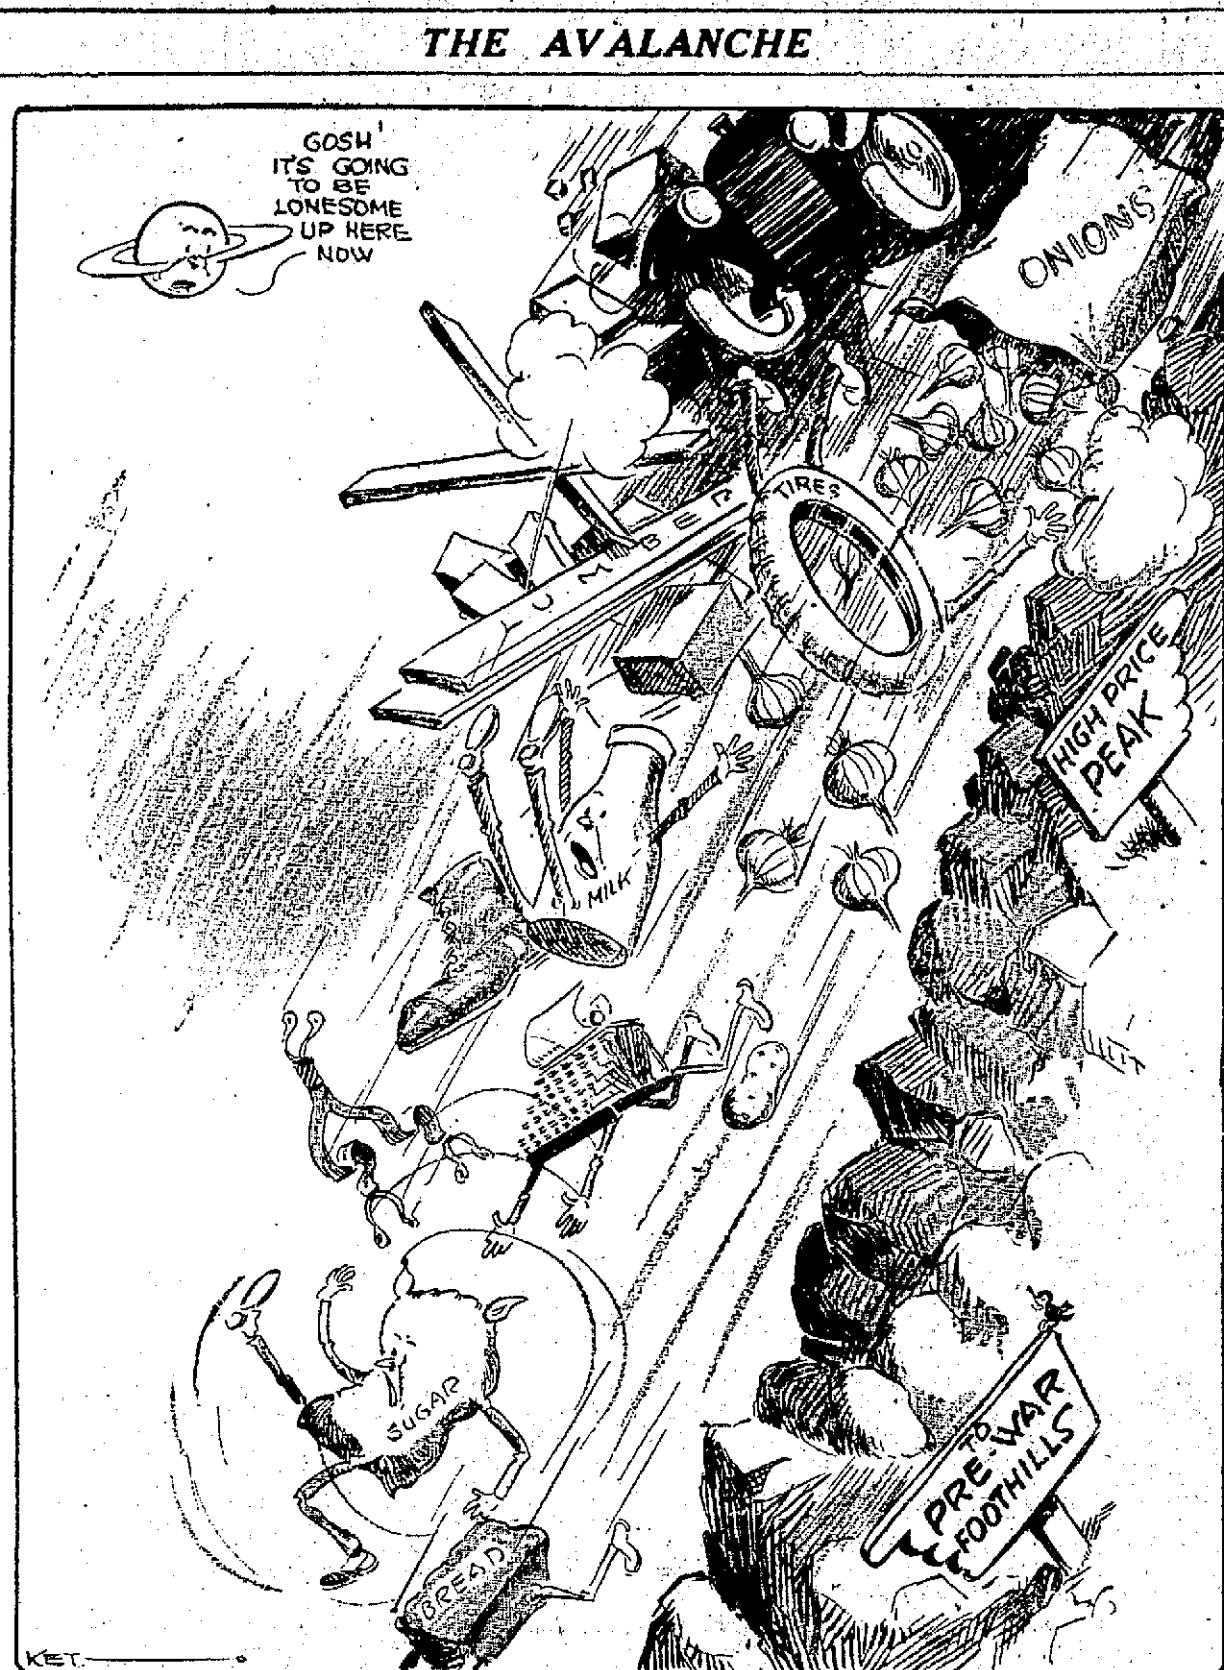

Awful humor from the Fresno Republican: "The report of waste in the ordinance department is not surprising. In this glad spring season, many arms go to waste."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS.

The new Farm Bureau Terminal at Oakland is now about to be placed in operation and it is expected that these conditions will change for the coming season. This concrete bulk elevator, located on tide water, has over a million bushels storage capacity. It has bidders, cleaners, smelters, dryers, and all modern facilities for the handling of all kinds of grain. It is also to unload and load out over a hundred carloads of grain per day in cars. It will load vessels at the rate of twenty-two thousand bushels per hour or 528,000 bushels per 24 hours.—Rio Vista Banner.

Evidently Modesto Jurymen have heard and heard so much about the mother-in-law joke that they believe it. Several days ago they acquitted a man in quick time of mistreating his mother-in-law. Of course, he did not treat her very rough. All he did was to punch her in the face a few times and then hit her with the butt of a revolver.—Merced Star.

The beet sugar industry has gone through the readjustment period and come out in a satisfactory manner. It is to the lasting credit of the sugar companies that they were able to carry out their contracts for the highest beet prices on record when sugar dropped from war to pre-war prices almost overnight.—San Leandro Reporter.

UNWELCOME HOME GUESTS

Prudent husbands and wives guard their homes carefully against visitors likely to bring scandal, immorality and shame into them.

Visitors in this family sanctuary from which all evil communications should be barred, must be entirely reputable, if it is to be kept clean in thought and deed. The husband and father wants no man of questionable reputation given hospitality by his wife or daughter; the wife will tolerate no woman who associates with her husband or son, no woman of immoral character. No decent man or woman wants a guest given to conversation about immoralities, or sensational stories of crime, or the exploitations of criminals, seducers or vampires.

Boys and girls budding into manhood and womanhood are entitled to only the best influences, the highest ideals, the finest examples, of purity and righteous living, in their homes, because since it was first established as the center of family life, the home has been recognized by all enlightened governments as the most potent incubator of life. It is a strange fact that many families which exercise the most scrupulous care as to the persons who enter their homes as guests, entirely overlook certain insidious and dangerous promoters of evil thought and bad conduct which are given unquestioned admittance. We refer to immoral books, magazines and newspapers.—Chicago Journal of Commerce.

THE ORANGE ORCHARDS IN BLOOM.

Busy bees drone
In the orange trees,
Sweet incense stirs
In the warm spring breeze.
By the fruit's cheek
Lies the wax-white bud—
Hope—fruition,
In a wonder-land!

Slim, glossy leaves
Like sentinels strong,
Guard perfumed buds:
Ah! list to the song
Of gold-flecked bees,
As they gather loot
From orange bloom,
Near the orange fruit.

About YOUR HEALTH

What "Pyelitis" Really Is
And the Way It Is Treated.

By ROYAL E. COPELAND, M. D.
Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Backache is one of the most common expressions of pain. Especially do women suffer from this symptom. There are many causes, of course, but the popular idea is that chronic backache is a sign of kidney disease. As a matter of fact it does sometimes indicate trouble with this organ. Let it be understood, however, that most backaches are due to other causes and, further, that many kidney patients never have backache.

In the middle of each kidney is a cavity of considerable size, called the pelvis. This space communicates with the bladder through the ureter. Like the ureter and bladder the pelvis of the kidney is lined with mucous membrane.

Inflammation of this portion of the kidney is called "pyelitis."

This disease is usually the result of germ invasion and infection. There are a number of germs that can cause the trouble. The most commonly met are the colon bacillus and the tubercle bacillus. These may come through the blood stream, from the intestinal tract, or they may travel up to the kidney from a diseased bladder.

The mucous membrane of the pelvis becomes thick, inflamed and sensitive. Then comes the backache, or, at least, tenderness on deep pressure over the loin.

As the disease progresses there may be fever and sometimes severe pain. At times the symptoms are like septic poisoning from any cause—chills, fever and sweat.

As the disease progresses the urine is filled with pus. It is cloudy and smoky, and sometimes bloody. Later it may contain shreds of the disorganized kidney.

In the septic cases there may be symptoms of severe illness. Loss of flesh, anæmia and rapid failure of health follow. The condition may resemble typhoid fever.

The urinary symptoms are like inflammation of the bladder, but, of course, in pyelitis there is no pain in the bladder. The backache and frequently the presence of swelling in this region are characteristic of pyelitis.

Needless to say, this affection is pretty serious. When it is secondary to some fever the outlook is very good. In other cases the cure is more difficult.

Milk, buttermilk, nourishing food and tonic treatment are indicated. The remedial treatment will be carried out by the doctor, and every case of pyelitis requires the best of medical attention.

COUNCIL SPLITS ON CHANGED PLAN FOR NEW FERRY

Soderberg Seeks Action While
Mayor and Baccus Ask Time for Investigation.

A motion by Commissioner Soderberg that the lease of the Six Minute Ferry company be changed to allow the construction of a bulkhead wall for a dirt fill, instead of the contemplated trestle railway, was voted down today by a tie vote in the city council.

The ferry company in a letter to Soderberg offered to build a sheet pile bulkhead wall, to be completed September 30, after which the city could dredge behind the wall and fill in about seven acres of submerged land between the Alameda property and the proposed ferry slip. This would give a straight-edge waterfront from the Parr property to the city. The inner strip of the fill would be used by the ferry company for a paved runway. The outer fill would be city waterfront.

SODERBERG IS INSISTENT.
"The retaining wall and rock fill," said Soderberg, "will cost about $70,000, and the city can save much of this amount by taking action and letting the ferry company do it. The fill behind the wall would not take all the dredgings from in front of the ferry slip, but it could handle 250,000 cubic yards, which would be an economy."

"I move we put the project over one week for study," said Commissioner Baccus.

"I object," said Soderberg. "The company is ready and anxious to start work."

"It's a big project," said Baccus. "I don't believe in spending all this money on a month-to-month lease, such as this ferry company has. They can step out at any time."

"This plan," said Soderberg, "represents a saving to the city of $50,000."

DAVIE WOULD POSTPONE.
"There's no reason why we shouldn't lay the whole matter over for the new administration," said Mayor Davie.

"Yes," said Soderberg. "Wait till your Gold Dust Twins come. I know why the Mayor is opposed to it."

"I'm opposed to you," said Davie. "You don't like to create an industrial site to cut into the business of Parr and the Southern Pacific," charged Soderberg.

"I think it's a bad place for a ferry," said Davie. "The ferry should have been at the foot of Fourteenth street."

"The Mayor shows where he stands when it comes to important business," said Soderberg.

"I do not intend," said Commissioner Baccus, "that the new administration shall be tied up to a project to expend $50,000 or $60,000."

Commissioner Edwards tried to lay the matter over a week, but Soderberg, who said that the matter must be done now, insisted on a vote. Ratification of the Soderberg plan was lost by a 2-2 vote.

Runaway Girl Now Says She Will Marry

Miss Marie Orenor who, it was reported yesterday by the police, had mandated of her uncle, which, it was said, would force her to marry a man whom she did not love, is today back in her uncle's home at 2821 Twenty-sixth street, following her apprehension by the Berkeley police.

She declared today that she is content to remain with her uncle, and that her engagement to the Demonsthenes of Modesto is not broken.

According to Miss Orenor, who is 16 years old, she did become engaged to Demonsthenes through her uncle's efforts, but nevertheless, she stated, she loves him and will, no doubt, marry him.

She said today that she had been added to leave home by George Nette, owner of a wicker store in Berkeley, who had taken considerable interest in her welfare. Nette, who is married, had provided a place for her at the home of A. E. Ketchell, 2202 Ninth street, Berkeley.

Her uncle, who conducts a grocery store at Twenty-fourth street and Harrison boulevard, missed her yesterday and reported the matter to the police.

BERKELEY, May 12.—Impressive but simple ceremonies marking ground-breaking for Henry Morse Stephens Memorial hall to be used as a Student Union closed the fifty-eighth commencement program of the university yesterday afternoon.

President David P. Barrows presided while the hillside overlooking the site for the new structure adjoining Faculty Glade was crowded with former students, faculty members and other friends of the dead professor.

Tribute to the memory of Professor Stephens was given by President Barrows and Colonel George C. Edwards, member of the first class at the university and professor emeritus of mathematics. Dr. Barrows explained plans for the building, which

ATTEMPT TO ROB SAFE IN MOTOR AGENCY BALKED

Policeman Finds Door Partly
by Robbers.

An attempt to blow the safe in the office of the Earle C. Anthony company, automobile dealers, at Twenty-sixth and Broadway, was frustrated this morning when the robbers, who were frightened away at 2:30 this morning, left the door partly broken and the knob to the safe partly broken off. On the floor were two hammers, a screw driver, flash light and an iron bar. The glass on the cash register was broken.

Anthony told the police that only small amount of money is kept in the safe and everything is taken to the bank before it closes. Nothing was taken from either the store or the office. On April 7 the office was entered by burglars and $10 was taken from the cash register. The case is being investigated by Police Inspectors B. A. Wallman and Tim Flynn.

WRONG REPORTS. It was several weeks ago when the resolution first made its appearance. At that time the husband of one of the members of the freetholders' committee moved its adoption and a reporter for an Oakland newspaper that is advocating the alternative and county division proposal, seconded the motion.

The reception given to the resolution by the club members was of the sort that might be expected of a Sacramento council when a plan to endorse moving the capital to Los Angeles is presented.

WRONG REPORTS. EVIDENTLY anticipating that the "works" the reporter who seconded the motion sent a story to the San Francisco morning paper, declaring that Alameda had endorsed the alternative and the announcement was carried with an eight-column line.

The Alameda chamber of commerce has since called the attention of the San Francisco office of the particular paper to the erroneous announcement.

Then those who object it was to put one Alameda organization on guard against approving the alternate plan worked for another meeting of the East End club. The members word spread that the resolution was to put on a return engagement and went out the word that it was going to be easy to put it over.

When the club met there were just eight members in the hall. On this occasion the husband of the freetholder again put the motion. It was 1 to 4 and stood that way when the session adjourned, and among the four voting in favor the members of the freetholder's family were well represented.

SWATTED THIRD TIME. Two swats in the same place did not prevent the resolution advocates from trying once more to get it through at a meeting of the club. As the Alameda city council and the Alameda chamber of commerce had already adopted resolutions against the alternative proposal, something was needed to bolster the publicity for the proponents. On Tuesday night the club met again, and again the resolution looked its head in on the session.

But its third appearance was very brief, no more than a little faraway bow, for someone moved that the matter be placed on the table and the club voted "aye," the freetholder's husband alone voting "no."

They may try to get that resolution off the table of the East End Improvement club, but the chances are, say the officers, that it will stick right there.

LITTLE ECONOMY AT AMHERST. "The golden age of most eastern universities seems to be in the past, but here the point of view is entirely in the future," said the president.

ENDORSEMENT OF ALTERNATIVE IS THRICE DEFEATED

County Division Proponents
Fail to Stampede Alameda
East End Club.

ALAMEDA, May 12.—The decision of the East End Improvement Club of this city to favor on the table a resolution to endorse the county and county consolidation in its alternative proposal has revealed that three times the club has considered the matter and it has thrice refused to endorse the plan.

It is generally surmised that the East End Improvement Club is selected to voice Alameda's sentiment on the subject of the county division and the husband and members of the family of another freetholder are active members.

It was several weeks ago when the resolution first made its appearance. At that time the husband of one of the members of the freetholders' committee moved its adoption and a reporter for an Oakland newspaper that is advocating the alternative and county division proposal, seconded the motion.

Confessed Bigamist Says Woman Knew of His Guilt

Locked in a room with the woman he had married illegally and a man named Thomas, and threatened with a 5-year term in prison, Antonio Gouldard, wealthy Pleasanton rancher and defendant in a $50,000 heart balm suit, agreed to give the woman, Mrs. Rita Brackett-Schober-Wilson-Gouldard, $1500 he had in the bank, according to his testimony before Superior Judge T. W. Harris.

Gouldard also admitted in his testimony that he knew he was committing bigamy when he married Mrs. Wilson, as his divorce from a former wife had not yet been made final but said he did so because Mrs. Wilson suggested to commit suicide by jumping into the bay unless he married her.

Judge Harris gave judgment for the defendant, saying he was convinced that he did not know what kind of a marriage that Gouldard was not yet legally divorced and could not be married to her according to law.

BIAMIS WOMAN. The testimony on this point was contradictory, Gouldard declaring Mrs. Wilson went off with him to Alameda county courthouse and looked up the date of the divorce decree, while Mrs. Wilson denied this and said she believed Gouldard's protestations that he was at the time unmarried.

Gouldard testified that after the visit to the courthouse they went to the Alameda city hall, on the representation of Mrs. Wilson that they could get a marriage license there.

WOMAN WHOSE AUTO KILLED
Girl May Be Put on Trial

BERKELEY, May 12.—Whether or not Mrs. W. L. Huber, 3407 Euclid avenue, wife of a well known San Francisco mining engineer, will be prosecuted for the death of Miss Anna Nielsen, 30 years old, 2974 Pacific avenue, San Francisco, will be determined by a coroner's jury sitting late this afternoon in the parlors of Deputy Coroner Frank Berg.

Mrs. Huber's machine ran down and instantly killed Miss Nielsen as the latter was walking on Euclid street on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. C. L. Jacobs, 2844 Deib street, and her two-year-old daughter, Anna, who was walking with Miss Nielsen, narrowly escaped injury by William Huber in her automobile was her seven-year-old niece, Marjorie Campbell.

Mrs. Huber in her statement to the police admits losing control of her car. She declared she had had her car on the wheel to save to a friend when she noticed a Euclid avenue car approaching and attempted to apply the brakes but apparently could not stop the machine. The automobile ran over the sidewalk, plowing Miss Nielsen beneath it and dragging her for a number of feet.

Miss Nielsen was badly mangled and was dead when extricated from the car.

Miss Nielsen was in Berkeley looking for a new residence when the accident occurred. Her brother, J. Nielsen, a director of the San Francisco Art Association, Mrs. Huber is a Christian Science practitioner. Both she and her husband are prominent members of the Sierra Club.

25 Youngsters Need Trip to Recreation Camp; Who'll Help?

A fresh air fund for Oakland's kiddies' Sixteen dollars will provide a two weeks' vacation for a child of the Oakland recreation camp in the Sierra Nevada mountains. The Associated Charities has chosen 25 from among its lists of youngsters—poor, weak, needing a bit of the sun and the hills to make them over into joyous, healthy children. Four hundred dollars stands between them and dreams.

City payments are the only thing that these youngsters have known. Streams in city parks are all they have learned of running brooks. Some of them even have never penetrated to the hills back of Oakland because the way of going was hard on shoes. Two weeks in the mountains with wholesome food and clean, out-of-door living will give them back their childhood.

And her waits the Stanislaus national forest, with its "Swamin' hole," its groves, its streams, its campfire, its athletic field. For $16 a boy or girl can be carried to dreamland and live there for two glorious weeks. For every additional $16 another may be added.

Miss Elizabeth Skeele, executive secretary of the Associated Charities, and Jay B. Nash, director of recreation, are co-operating in the plan to give 25 kiddies of the city their first summer's outing. Reservations must be made within the next fortnight if the youngsters are to go.

Who will adopt a boy or a girl for two weeks? Who will help to send a boy or girl into the Sierra Nevada mountains on a vacation which will bring roses into their cheeks, sparkle to their eyes and give them memories which will never die?

Gifts to the boys and girls of Oakland may be sent to the Fresh Air Fund for Kiddies, care of The OAKLAND TRIBUNE, and will be forwarded to the Associated Charities.

TWO DIRECTORS OF PLAYGROUNDS ARE APPOINTED

Dr. James P. Maher and Harold Austin Chosen by City Council.

Dr. James P. Maher, dentist, and Harold C. Austin, president of the Oakland Audubon Club, were today appointed by the City Council, by request of Mayor Davie, as new members of the Board of Playground Directors to succeed H. B. Perkins and Professor Herman Kowalski.

Dr. Maher and Austin are both American Legion men and war veterans. Austin is a two-time winner of a white star with the air service. Both are of the rank of lieutenant.

The Council voted for the purchase of a new pump for the municipal auditorium, as designated by Harbor Engineer Frank Commissioner Soderberg and the old pump had been repaired so often that it is now a patchwork of repairs. The Harbor company was low bidder for building the new pump, at $3400.

This was adopted for the attention of the Council.

At the recommendation of the City Planning Commission, the Council accepted a bid from Dr. L. F. Herlak, a small tract of land on Cleveland avenue, from Merritt to Lake Shore boulevard, for a park site.

A resolution was adopted granting the Commission to elect the full board of the city hall and council chambers.

The "bungalow apartment" amendment to the zoning ordinance, allowing this type of building within the restricted districts, was given final passage by the Council.

RICHMOND, May 12.—Max Thompson, aged nine years, was struck by an automobile driven by Joe Escala of Richmond, in front of the 1st Currier's office on San Pablo avenue last yesterday afternoon, and suffered fractures of both legs. According to witnesses to the accident the girl was playing with another girl and ran into the street directly in front of Escala's automobile. Escala was unable to stop before his machine struck her.

The Truth About Fiction Writing

Chapter VII.

The Deadly Sin

"Why do amateur writers have such a hard time busting in?" said my friend Max, the other day. "I've sweated every day for three years turning in a thing to a publisher. I can't get a word of it. I've studied like a dog, and spent money on courses. Why can't I sell this story?"

We looked over the story. The professional critic had called it fine, had suggested a few changes, had nowhere come down to earth on it. Yet any writer could see in two minutes why Max had not sold it—and never would.

He had committed the deadly sin. When you come to the climax, do you want to be told that the hero "knocked the skipper into the cupboards, overboard the crew, and took command of the ship?" Not much. You want the details of what was done.

In other words, you want to follow the emotions of the hero. Never forget that the reader, in general, identifies himself with the chief character of a story. He wants to see things through the eyes of that character. When the reader comes to some big, crucial moment, and finds it covered in a couple of sentences, he is bitterly disappointed. He wants some analysis of emotions at that particular point.

Not true to life? I don't know about that. A person's mind moves mighty fast in a pinch. It covers a lot of territory. In any case, your hero is a bit of a super-man, so never mind whether it's true to life or not. It makes a good story.

This is the deadly sin of the amateur. He seldom realizes what points in his story he should play up the most, and what points are less vital to the story. This perception of values, however, is something he must come to learn unless he wants to fail utterly. It is a thing, the great essential of writing. It is more important than anything else, and I had proof of this point only a few days ago.

One of my friends started me by saying that one of the most prominent publishers in the country had accepted a story for book publication. I had read the story. It was written in poor English, it was full of errors, and it was careless and careless. When I read the letters from the publishers I understood.

Her sense of values had expired her through. The publisher had undertaken to correct her grammar and spelling. They had listed the technical errors for her to correct. Because she knew intuitively just what the big points, the story went through. Her sense of values had brought her to sue. She had turned out a good story.

And every character introduced was brought in for a definite purpose—not for the sake of telling an interesting incident. This deadly sin, this lack of proportion in telling the story, is a hard thing to learn. Once you get a grip on it, you have a grip on success.

Late Fashion Hint

The Sash Is Now Distinctive Part of Some Dresses

Note This Broad Many-Colored Sash and This Narrow Example.

By ANNETTE BRADSHAW.

THE sash is a most valuable adjunct to many of the new frocks. It is developed in a host of different ways. Sometimes it is fashioned from the same material as the frock and attains distinction by a colorful tassel or gay fringe.

An attractive interpretation of this mode is pictured in the blue serge dress at the left. The fabric chosen for its development is a broad, grooved silk enriched with stripes of varied colors. This is attached to the lower edge of the overblouse by embroidery which repeats the colors of the broad striped silk.

Touches of embroidery appear about the neckline as well as the tight-fitting cuffs.

The skirt is fashioned with a full circular tunic which is shortened toward the back and partly covered by the long sash ends that extend almost to the hem.

Another type of sash is shown on the dress at the right. Black satin is the material from which it is cut. Quite narrow, it is slipped through two jet rings at the side and the ends—two long and two short—are finished with long, black silk fringe.

Rows of the same kind of black silk fringe, although shorter in length, elaborate the black chiffon frock which is draped over black satin. Bands of the satin distinguish the wide cuffs.

Uncle Wiggly Stories

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE HAMMOCK

One day, just as he was about to start on his long journey to the land of nod, Uncle Wiggly, the little bunny rabbit gentleman, heard some one knocking at his door.

"You get on your little silk hat and look for your red, white and blue rheumatism crutch," advised Nurse Jane, the muskrat lady housekeeper. "I'll be right in." And when she opened it there stood Jackie and Peetle Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggly," barked Jackie, "please come to our yard and make us a hammock."

"You made Lulu and Alice Wiggly-wobble a swing," whined Peetle, "can't you make one for us?"

"Swing is much easier to make than a hammock," spoke the bunny rabbit gentleman. "All I needed for the swing was a grape vine rope and a piece of board. But for the hammock I need not only a long vine, but an old barrel, that I may take the staves, or pieces, from it to fasten to the rope."

"There's an old barrel in our yard," barked Jackie. "That's what we came to tell you. Please make us a hammock, Uncle Wiggly."

"But it's time for you to go to school," said Nurse Jane. "I'll be right in." And when she opened it there stood Jackie and Peetle Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggly," barked Jackie, "please come to our yard and make us a hammock."

Down he fell, ker bunko!

and the flat pieces, or staves, would make a fine hammock when strung on the grape vine rope.

There were also two trees between which the hammock could be stretched, and seeing everything thus ready for him, Uncle Wiggly started in.

It did not take the bunny gentleman long to get the hammock for Jackie and Peetle, and when it was finished Uncle Wiggly said:

"I must try it now, to see if it's all right."

The bunny knew that the Bashful animal had not been around to gnaw partly through the hammock ropes, as they gnawed through the duck girl's swing rope the day before, causing the old Wolf to fall.

"This hammock will not fall," said Uncle Wiggly as he stretched out on the flat pieces of the barrel. "It is a very good hammock. If I do say it myself, it's all right. Jackie and Peetle come home and see how they like it."

The hammock was so comfortable that, before he knew it, Uncle Wiggly had fallen asleep. But he was awakened by hearing a voice saying:

"There he is now! He's asleep and I can nibble his ears."

Uncle Wiggly quickly opened his eyes and saw the Furry Fox.

"I'm not asleep," cried the bunny, "and if you try to nibble my ears—"

"If I try I'll succeed!" interrupted the Fox, most impudently. "If I don't, I'll try again! Here! Where are you going?" he cried, as he saw Uncle Wiggly in motion.

"I'm going to get out of this hammock!" said the bunny gentleman, as he slid out one side.

"Well, you can't get away from me by sliding out of the hammock!" howled the Fox. "But since you have gotten out, I'll get in and rest myself."

So the bad old Fox plumped himself down in the hammock the bunny gentleman had made for the doggie boys. And as he stretched out, the Fox put forth a paw and caught Uncle Wiggly by the coat-tails.

"Come on! You may as well have a hammock swing with me!" howled the Fox, after he saw together the bunny and the fox. "I'll nibble your ears—first one, then the other. Come! I'm here, a ham-

Cry Geraldine's

SHOULDER

If the little "Jealous Wife" whose letter started such a controversy in the column lives as long as her husband, she'll read this—

Dear Geraldine:

I have read your column ever since it started, and at first I could see the higher wisdom of your splendid, wholesome answers, and of the great good I thought would be derived from your column, but I must admit that your answer to "Jealous Wife" got me going, although I supposed you had heard the last of it weeks ago.

However, on reading tonight another criticism on the "bawling out" you gave the little wife, I am going to give my opinion too, though I can readily see how you might feel that it was your opinion, not mine, that was asked. Right or wrong, you have not yet "punished" anyone for sending you a sincere criticism, and I assure you that I send this in all sincerity.

Now, Jerry, I was in the business world for over twelve years myself, and it so happened that I was placed in a position where I was often called upon to give advice and help to others, and I am not considered one bit jealous or narrow-minded, but I certainly felt that your answer to the "so-called Jealous Wife" was very unfair, and my husband thought so too.

Of course, any amount of fair, good-natured "kidding" between the two couples was all right, but I have seen a lot of these concocted vamps who are not satisfied unless they are getting all the attention of every man present, and without regard for any lady whether she is entitled to any consideration or not.

A Mischief-Maker

From what I could glean from the letter, I think the other woman did not have one ounce of friendship or respect for me, but was just a mischief-maker. I have some friends who have gone through something of the same experience, and I want to tell them that I have no time for these females who are always trying to vamp the other woman's husband. And it is not all confined to one sex, by the way. I have known men who considered themselves the original heart smashers.

I am blaming her in this case particularly, because from the letter I can see that her husband both admitted that the other woman led him on, and if he had had back-bone enough to have paid no attention to her blandishments, he would have been so plucked that she would have turned her back on him in a hurry.

I can't see that the wife did any particular "damning" of her husband. She said she talked to over quietly and not she, but he admitted that they had been going out together for some time, and that he had been going out with her for some time.

It seems to me that the wife was a mischief-maker, and that she was a mischief-maker. ### Listen, World!

The biggest load that I ever removed from my neck was the idea that I always had in my head that I was in the right, particularly with children. Before I lost that idea I was always making excuses or blaming someone else. The trouble was I always picked on the wrong person.

It's hard to fool the kiddies.

to blame and he promptly showed up and raised Cain. Then I had to lie.

That might have been all right if I were naturally a good liar, but I'm not. I always forget what I said the last time. Also I have absolutely no control over my lies. They simply bust all over the scenery. The result was that the first people I raged at me, and then I was the laughing stock of the family because you're a poor liar.

Then there were the children. Of course every adult is supposed to be infallible with children. But there never yet was a child that didn't see through the game and treat it with the contempt it deserved.

Now I like children. I look up to them. I love them. But I can't seem to manage it.

Until at last one day the beautiful bunch dawned on me that I could be a child again. I decided to eliminate all the bother of being a parent and just acknowledge the truth—which is that I have very little sense and seldom use that which I have.

Since then all has been serene. I make no alibis, commit no crimes, lie. I cheerfully acknowledge that I know little and do less, and I get on with the gang like a house on fire.

My husband and I have been so plucked that she would have turned her back on him in a hurry.

I can't see that the wife did any particular "damning" of her husband. She said she talked to over quietly and not she, but he admitted that they had been going out together for some time, and that he had been going out with her for some time.

Careless Boosting

Dearest Jerry:

Oh how I love you. It seems as though I never disagree with what you say.

After get down to business. Well, after reading Pearl Severett's letter, I felt like jumping a mile high. I don't see Borax's letter, but I know Pearl is a true-hearted Californian. She sure is right about those games; they put some pep into a fellow. I have gone to them and holed so much my throat was sore.

As Pearl says, "California is the first for education." I'll say it is. It is far ahead in the musical line, anyone will tell you that. California has many more advantages than other states in the Union. I've been out of California and just as well satisfied. I guess some people will say I am narrow-minded, let them say it, it doesn't bother me any.

I guess Borax will be sorry he wrote you, but he started something when he did.

I must close now, Jerry dear, as the dinner bell is ringing.

Three cheers for Jerry and Pearl Severett.

A California School Girl II.

Dearest Little Pal—I love you too, but ever since I read that letter with mixed feelings and I am afraid that, at last, you're going to disagree with your Jerry. I'm going to say something that will shock you very much, but I'll say it. I don't care. I couldn't possibly do your beloved state more harm than by loving her like you do.

"BOOTLEG" BRIBE SEEKING IS LAID TO POLICEMEN

SAN DIEGO, May 12.—One San Diego policeman is under arrest, another is suspended and a number of United States customs officials are under investigation today as the result of statements made to Police Chief Patrick by W. J. Morrison, former Tijuana liquor man.

Patrolman Charles F. Marrs of the "purities" squad, is under arrest, charged with collecting a bribe. Patrolman J. W. Mead, who worked with Marrs, has been suspended pending an investigation of the case.

Morrison claimed that Marrs asked for "hush money" from bootleggers.

An expose of conditions at the Mexican line where narcotics in large quantities are being smuggled across the line, as well as whisky, is expected here. Bribe-taking by United States customs men is alleged.

EASTERN CITIES HIT BY HIGH RENT

CHICAGO, May 12.—Hundreds of apartments in Chicago are vacant due to the excessive rentals. Tenants were unable to pay the increased rents asked on May 1 and moved out. Many stored their furniture. Others built or bought homes. In many cases, the landlords have been unable to obtain a new customer at the high rates asked.

NEW YORK, May 12.—New Yorkers—who can afford it—are beating the profiteering landlords by buying their own homes in the suburbs, according to information obtained today by the mayor's committee on rent profiteering. There is an unusual number of apartments for rent at present.

PITTSBURGH, May 12.—For the first time in several years, rent signs are making their appearance in Pittsburgh.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 12.—The great "housing shortage" is not yet history here. Local realty dealers declared today that Des Moines needs 500 homes.

Bark of the eucalyptus trees is being used to make twine, rope and baling.

Headed by R. S. Hubbard, president of the San Francisco Optimists' club, a delegation of fifty will be the guests of the Oakland body at the banquet Tuesday night. The purpose of the club will be civic betterment and less gossip about the slowness of the city's growth. There are seventy-five members in the Oakland club now. The meeting Tuesday is open to the public.

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mothers! Watch Your Daughters' Health

Health Is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve, until womanhood is established she needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mothers should teach their girls what danger comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking. Do not let her overstudy. If she complains of headache, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. She needs thoughtful care for a few years.

In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given as it is especially adapted for such conditions. It contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in perfect safety.

Read how Mrs. Elcher helped her daughter. She says: "At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had pains across her back and in her sides. Every month her back would pain her so she could not do her work and would have to lie down. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read the books which were left at my door. She took it faithfully and is now regular and has no pain. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter in your little book and in the newspapers."—Mrs. KATIE ELCHER, 404 N. Fairhill St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Williams will profit by her own experience. She says: "When I was thirteen years old I had sick spells each month and as I was very backward I would bear the pain and my mother knew nothing about it. I read in the daily paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took my own spending money and bought a bottle. It helped me so much that I took it regularly after that until I had taken two bottles and I did not have any more pain or backache and have been a healthy, strong woman. I am now 39 years old and have a little girl of my own, and when she gets old enough I shall give her none other than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. C. E. WILLIAMS, 2437 W. Toronto St., Philadelphia, Pa.

For almost fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been relieving women, young and old, of ailments peculiar to their sex. Ask your neighbor about it, for in every neighborhood there are women who know of its merits.

Thousands of letters similar to the above are in the files of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., and for years such letters have been published. Surely it is worth your while to make a fair trial of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

SALT LAKE SECRETARY DECLARES OAKLAND IS GREAT BASEBALL CITY

Standard for over 30 years

OAKLAND MAN IS SEEKING JOB AS
U. S. ATTORNEYC. A. A. McGee One of Several Aspirants for Place: Davis
On Kelly's Trail.

In the belief that he may be fortunate enough to fit the role of compromise candidate for federal appointment as United States attorney, Charles A. A. McGee, Oakland attorney, is on the way to Washington to present his claims.

The attorneyship situation has been made complicated by the persistent report that Senator Hiram Johnson favors the appointment of John Williams while Senator Shortridge would like to name H. M. McCormick. To a number of men up and down the state it has appeared that the psychological moment for the compromise candidate has arrived and McGee is the latest one who has been advised by close friends to take the journey to the national capital in his own behalf.

IS FRIEND OF DAVIS.

The Oakland man was active in Hiram Johnson's campaign for President and took the stump for Shortridge last fall. Ed Henning of San Diego, assistant secretary of labor, is a former law partner of McGee and both have been leaders in the Moose lodge. Secretary Davis of the department of labor is McGee's close friend.

McGee is not the only one who has been told of the chance to become a happy choice at a time when the California senators are reported to be unwilling to agree upon either Williams or McCormick. Charles M. Fickert, former district attorney of San Francisco, is in Washington on the same mission, with an advantage of several days' start.

Before either McGee or Fickert entered the field State Senator H. C. Nelson from the first district, Del Norte, Humboldt, Trinity and Tehama counties was counted as a possible ally. Nelson's friends have been working in his interests for several weeks and advance the argument that the cities around San Francisco are getting impatient with their share of the appointments.

SITUATION INVOLVED.

With Senator Shortridge determined that his friend McCormick be given a place commensurate with his efforts in the Shortridge campaign, with the apparent desirability of Shortridge and Johnson existing, and with an ever-increasing group of compromise candidates for the attorneyship job, the task before McGee and Fickert is becoming increasingly delicate and complex.

To add to the complication Mayor John L. Davis of Oakland has sent to Senator Shortridge a telegram asking that Mr. Kelly be not appointed to the position as head of the mint. Those who know of the friendly relations between Kelly and Senator Johnson and who remember the part taken by him in the Shortridge campaign, are looking for the job to go to Kelly.

Featuring the monkey circus at the Moose spring festival being held at Forty-fifth street and San Pablo avenue is baby "Oakland," of South African ancestry, who was born in Oakland exactly one year ago. Baby "Oakland's" cage has been the chief attraction at the festival since the day it opened. There are more than forty of the Simian tribe in the circus which have been attracting more attention than any other section of the festival.

Experts Tell Possibilities
To Chamber of Commerce

Outlining the possibilities of the Oakland industrial section, both in relation to itself and the San Francisco bay district as a whole, Dr. B. M. Rastall, industrial engineer of national note, will speak before a luncheon of the entire membership luncheon of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce in the ivory ballroom of the Hotel Oakland Monday.

Dr. Rastall, who is conducting an industrial survey of San Francisco for the Chamber of Commerce of that city, already has made a preliminary investigation of the industrial situation on the mainland, and he has been asked to give some practical advice to the Oakland Chamber of Commerce as to the course to be followed in the future in attracting new industries.

He will also speak on the conditions of industry, such as housing, transportation, schools, parks and other things necessary to attract manufacturers to the section.

When Dr. Rastall is through with his survey of San Francisco, he is expected to extend his operations to the bay sections, so as to knit the whole district together as a metropolitan area. His visit next Tuesday is to be preliminary to his inspection of the east side of the bay in connection with these plans.

Dr. Rastall already has aroused widespread interest in San Francisco by his suggestions for the improvement of that city and because of the importance of his address it was announced at the Chamber of Commerce that members would be permitted to bring a limited number of guests to the luncheon.

President J. H. King will be the chairman of the day and will introduce Dr. Rastall. Other features are being planned.

PARR FORECASTS
PROSPERITY FOR CITY WATERFRONTLack of Support in Past Has Retarded Terminal, He Tells Lions Club.

Lack of co-operation from certain members of the city council during the time his terminal has been in operation, has retarded the growth of the western waterfront, but with the advent of a new administration, growth of that waterfront will develop far beyond the dream of the commercial men of the city, Fred D. Parr told members of the Oakland Lions' club at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Hotel Oakland.

Belief that the western waterfront would become in time the greatest terminal on the Pacific coast was expressed by Parr in explaining the inactivity there regarding improvements and expansion.

NEED OF SUPPORT.

Until heavy support is given the Parr company by the city council the western waterfront will remain a liability to the city instead of an asset, Harry T. Laffler, industrial expert and member of the city planning commission, declared in a plea for support of the waterfront project. While the Parr terminal is ignored, the city's waterfront possibilities will deteriorate correspondingly in time, he said in conclusion.

President Leroy Goodrich presided. The musical program was given by the Minerva trio. Frank Colbourn, elected commissioner of public health, said that the municipal election last Tuesday, thanked the club for its support and was accorded a reception.

While the housing committee announced that the Los Angeles Lions' club led the field for reservations at the Hotel Oakland for the international convention of Lions' clubs, which convenes in Oakland July 19, 20, 21 and 22; other committees reported that they were working at top speed to complete all of the arrangements.

On the day preceding the opening of the convention of the international body the annual district meeting of the local organizations will be held at the Hotel Claremont, at which time the Berkeley Lions' club will be the host club.

MODESTO, May 12.—The next time that M. Padratil, Oakland business man, passes through Oakland, he will "arrive around the place."

Padratil was fined twice within an hour by Justice Wilkinson. Padratil was first fined $2 for speeding through Oakland and cutting a corner. He expressed his peeve to the judge.

Half an hour later the same officer found Padratil going 57 miles an hour towards Oakland. He brought Padratil back and this time the fine was $25. Padratil was even more peeved than before, but when he left town he drove slowly and carefully.

At Hotel Oakland; Loser
Yield Gracefully.

Plans for a public luncheon to the newly-elected commissioners, Albert E. Carter and Frank Colbourn, were announced today by the Good Government League. At the same time the interest of Senator Anderson and H. T. Hempstead, in which they thank the voters for the support given them and "how gracefully" to the will of the people.

The luncheon will be given tomorrow noon at Hotel Oakland and every voter in the city is invited to attend. Fred T. Stewart, chairman of the Hempstead-Anderson committee, announced today.

"In behalf of the campaign committee I wish to thank all who assisted us in the efforts made in the election. We bow gracefully to the will of the people as expressed at the polls and will work heartily with the new officials for the benefit of Oakland."

Neither Carter nor Colbourn would discuss the rumors of changes at the city hall. Bert Anderson, who has been offered a place on the civil service board, has not yet decided whether he will accept. Leon S. Gray, deputy city attorney, and Fred B. Mellman are among those mentioned most often when the question of a successor to City Attorney H. L. Hagan is discussed.

Alleged Robbers
to Be Arraigned

Arraignment of William Albertson, alias Rossi, and "Lefty" Foley who were indicted by the grand jury for the Alvarado bank robbery, will be held next Tuesday, according to announcement just made by District Attorney Ezra Decoto.

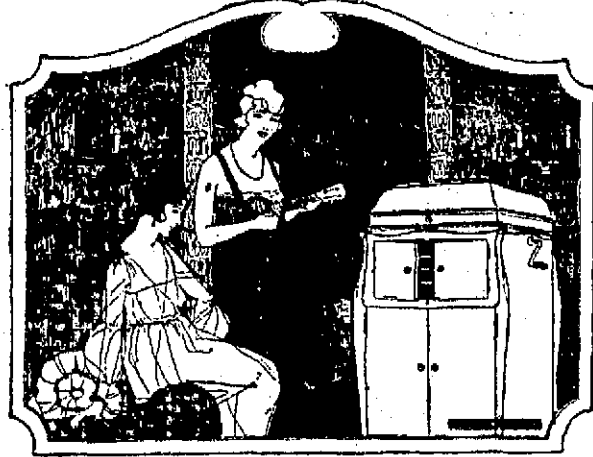

Rossi is charged not only with robbery but with assault with a deadly weapon with the intent to commit murder, in that he is accused of shooting August May, the bank president, during the holdup.

Foley is charged with robbery. The district attorney's office decided today that it has a clear case against the two men and that if they insist on a trial rather than pleading guilty, they will be given a hearing quickly and sent to the penitentiary on conviction.

Both Albertson and Foley are ex-convicts, each having served three penitentiary terms.

Pleasanton Asks Boosters to Aid Region Get Good Roads

"And these are our flowers," said President Crawford Latham, president of the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce, to the 300 Oakland business men when they visited that city in their swing around the circle.

Latham indicated the hundreds of children marshaled in parade. "We raise them for you. They don't stay at home. We raise them and train them for the big city across the hills. We give the bay cities every day millions of gallons of our water; we give you richness of our valley lands, and we are loyal to your wholesalers and your industries. We give, and give, and give, to tell the world what Pleasanton wanted and how Oakland could help to get it. He accepted the invitation literally.

ROADS ARE WANTED.

"And, gentlemen of Oakland, what do you give us? Over round Oakland you have a hard surfaced boulevard running into every canyon and across every hill. You have highways for your pleasure and highways for your business and you give us not one fit road; not one highway to bring to us the thousands we have room for and would so warmly welcome. You ask us what you can give us. Tell your supervisors to give us roads. We ask for nothing more."

"Harry Drummond, who has dedicated twenty years of his life to building up the Byron-Bethany and Delta sections, also did a bit of telling the world on behalf of his fruitful section.

"Gentlemen, we are spending approximately a hundred thousand dollars of money that it has been very hard to get, to bring Oakland ten miles closer to us; to bring her industries, her wholesalers, her retailers, her business men, her people, to our door. Before summer is over the Marsh creek road over the shoulder of Mt. Diablo will be a boulevard and a city. With Oakland at our back, in hand, we still are loyal to Oakland. We have a principally here; a district that can feed the state; we have the water to make returns a certainty. What can we give you? Help us for investment. Help us to break up these tremendous reaches into homes for the thousands these lands will support."

BOOSTERS FOR ROADS.

The pilgrims from the bay got it again at Martinez, where they were again half a thousand and boosters who were loyal to Oakland. After July 1 Martinez would be only "fifty minutes from Broadway" via the new boulevard through Franklin Canyon.

As a "booster" excursion, the Chamber of Commerce folks who engineered it did not hesitate to pronounce it the most successful, in all aspects, of the many similar junkets. The Chamber of Commerce folks who engineered it did not hesitate to pronounce it the most successful, in all aspects, of the many similar junkets.

The 300 who made the journey counter-marched through the main street of Pleasanton, first stop at school band. They were met by the school band. They were met by the school band. They were met by the school band.

EDITORIAL.

It is difficult to tell you how many films you will need when you go away on a trip. If the weather is right and you get started, you may use a great many rolls.

On the other hand, you may not take a single picture. The best way to do is to come to our store just before you leave upon your trip and buy as many rolls of films as you think you will need.

We will sell them to you with the understanding that you can return all unused rolls at the end of the trip. In planning your Kodaking for the summer, a great mistake if you do not make use of some of the many accessories that are manufactured by the famous Kodaking pleasure.

For example, you should have a self-timer, so that you can set your camera and take your own picture or include yourself in the group of your friends.

You should have one of those little devices that attach the camera to any tree or stump and keep it steady. This will keep your Kodak pointed in the right direction while you are taking your own picture. These are accessories that you can take close up pictures of interesting objects. With one of these portrait attachments you can get within 3 feet of an object and get a fine, clear picture.

You should have some kind of a timing device, so that you can tell just what sort of an exposure to make under the varying conditions you will meet on your trip. All of these articles are inexpensive and add immensely to the pleasure of Kodaking.

We know of nothing better for the purpose. $2 and 50c.

A SAFE COUGH REMEDY FOR BABIES

It Contains No Narcotics
You cannot be too careful about the kind of cough remedy you give to your children.

Most cough medicines made for adults, contain a small percentage of narcotics, which is not an objectionable feature as far as grown people are concerned.

"Little babies, however, are very susceptible to the most minute particles of narcotic poisons and no one would care to give a child any remedy containing drugs of this kind."

There are several cough remedies made, however, that do not contain narcotics and which are safe to give to infants.

The best remedy of this kind, as far as our experience dictates, is F. B. Cough Syrup, which sells at our stores for 25c a bottle.
